Cartoonist R. Sikoryak illustrates the intersection of “high art” literature with “low art” comic strips with cartoonists’ adaptations of classic novels and plays over the past 90 years. This Speakers in the Humanities program is suitable for all ages.

Cold Spring comic artist Chris Duffy will introduce Mr. Sikorak, whose work has appeared on New Yorker covers and The Daily Show with Jon Stewart.

This Speakers in the Humanities event, which is free and open to the public, is made possible through the support of the New York Council for the Humanities, a state affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

The Speakers in the Humanities program has linked distinguished scholars with diverse audiences since its launch in 1983, bringing the best in humanities scholarship to thousands of people at hundreds of cultural organizations in virtually every corner of New York State. This program is just one of the ways the New York Council for the Humanities helps all New Yorkers to lead vibrant intellectual lives by strengthening traditions of cultural literacy, critical inquiry, and civic participation.
